

Are We Seeing the Implementation of Protocol 19: "Rulers and People" from the Learned Elders of Zion?

Sixbert SANGWA • July 25, 2024

The Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion is a document that reveals a secret plan for global domination by a secret group of Jewish leaders, who are believed to be under the influence of Illuminati, a secret organization aiming for global control. As Christians who are aware of the existence of such clandestine plan, it is essential to be vigilant and discerning, especially in these times when deception seems rampant. Ephesians 6:12 reminds us that "we do not wrestle against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this age, against spiritual hosts of wickedness in the heavenly places." With this in mind, it is crucial to examine and expose the historical and current trends in light of the Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion. This brief article seeks to expose key elements of Protocol 19, titled "Rulers and People," and demonstrate how these elements have influenced global history and current events.

Independent Political Action and Controlled Opposition

Protocol 19 begins with a strategy to manipulate public opinion by encouraging the submission of petitions and reports. It states:

"If we do not permit any independent dabbling in the political we shall on the other hand encourage every kind of report or petition with proposals for the government to examine into all kinds of projects for the amelioration of the condition of the people; this will reveal to us the defects or else the fantasies of our subjects, to which we shall respond either by accomplishing them or by a wise rebuttment to prove the shortsightedness of one who judges wrongly."

This provision indicates a strategy to manipulate public opinion by encouraging the submission of petitions and reports. These are then examined and either implemented or dismissed to reveal the weaknesses or misconceptions of the populace. This tactic can be observed throughout history in various forms of government where public feedback is solicited only to be selectively addressed, often to justify predetermined agendas.

For example, many political revolutions and reforms have resulted in regimes that were just as oppressive, if not more so, than their predecessors. The French Revolution, which promised "liberty, equality, fraternity," resulted in the rise of Napoleon and a new form of autocracy. Similarly, the Bolshevik Revolution led to the establishment of a totalitarian regime under Lenin and Stalin. These historical examples reflect the tactic of allowing certain "proposals for the amelioration of the condition of the people" while ensuring that genuine change remains elusive.

In contemporary times, controlled opposition is seen in the form of political movements that appear to challenge the global elite but are often co-opted or manipulated. Many populist movements and leaders, who initially promise to break away from globalist agendas, often find themselves constrained or compromised, unable to effect true change. This aligns with the Protocol's tactic of revealing "the defects or else the fantasies of our subjects, to which we shall respond either by accomplishing them or by a wise rebuttment."

In today's context, the proliferation of surveys, polls, and public consultations can be seen as a modern implementation of this strategy. Governments and corporations frequently solicit public opinion, not necessarily to address concerns but to identify and exploit the public's vulnerabilities. As Christians, we must be discerning and prayerful, recognizing when such initiatives are genuine and when they serve ulterior motives.

Sedition and the Marginalization of Dissent

Another critical aspect of Protocol 19 is the portrayal of sedition as inconsequential: "Sedition-mongering is nothing more than the yapping of a lap-dog at an elephant." This metaphor suggests that any attempt at sedition or political crime will be trivialized and marginalized. A well-organized government, according to the Protocol, can easily undermine and discredit such efforts.

Historically, we have witnessed the systematic discrediting of political dissent. Whistleblowers, activists, and dissenters have often been labeled as criminals, lunatics, or terrorists. This tactic serves to delegitimize their causes and dissuade the public from supporting them. In recent years, this tactic has evolved with the advent of digital media. Social media platforms and mainstream news outlets often participate in the character assassination of dissenters. Those who challenge dominant narratives are frequently censored, deplatformed, or subjected to smear campaigns. This modern approach continues the age-old strategy of marginalizing dissent to maintain control.

Suppression of Political Heroism

Protocol 19 further states: "In order to destroy the prestige of heroism for political crime we shall send it for trial in the category of thieving, murder, and every kind of abominable and filthy crime."

By equating political dissent with common crimes, the protocol aims to tarnish the reputation of political activists and freedom fighters. This tactic of character assassination has been used historically to undermine movements that challenge the status quo. For example, leaders of civil rights movements have often been discredited through false accusations and smear campaigns. In the current era, the discrediting of political opponents through media manipulation and legal charges continues.

Manipulation of Public Opinion through Media and Education

Protocol 19 further elaborates on the manipulation of public opinion: "We have done our best, and I hope we have succeeded to obtain that the GOYIM should not arrive at this means of contending with sedition. It was for this reason that through the Press and in speeches, indirectly - in cleverly compiled school-books on history, we have advertised the martyrdom alleged to have been accredited by sedition-mongers for the idea of the commonweal."

This statement reveals a deliberate effort to control the narrative and shape public perception through media and education. By portraying sedition-mongers as martyrs for a misguided cause, the Protocol aims to attract more followers to liberal ideologies, thereby increasing the ranks of those who unwittingly serve their agenda. In the modern era, media and education systems play pivotal roles in shaping public opinion. The press, often controlled by a few powerful entities, can sway public sentiment by selectively reporting events and framing narratives. Educational institutions, through textbooks and curricula, can indoctrinate young minds with specific worldviews. This alignment with Protocol 19 is evident in how certain historical events are taught and how contemporary issues are presented in the media.

Concluding Thoughts

The strategies outlined in Protocol 19 have had profound implications throughout history and continue to influence current events. The manipulation of political opposition, marginalization of dissent, and control of public opinion are tactics that have shaped the geopolitical landscape. In recent times, these strategies have been employed to steer global governance toward a centralized authority. Efforts to establish global institutions and agreements often face minimal genuine opposition, as dissenting voices are systematically discredited. The rise of surveillance states and the erosion of individual liberties under the guise of security and public health reflect the ongoing implementation of these strategies.

As Christians, we must remain vigilant and discerning. Jesus warned us in Matthew 24:4-5, "Take heed that no one deceives you. For many will come in My name, saying, 'I am the Christ,' and will deceive many." Understanding the tactics outlined in Protocol 19 helps us recognize the signs of deception and remain steadfast in our faith.

In conclusion, the elements of Protocol 19, "Rulers and People," provide a blueprint for controlling and manipulating societies. By stifling genuine political action, marginalizing dissent, and shaping public opinion, those in power have steered the course of history toward their agenda. As we navigate these challenging times, let us anchor our hearts in the truth of God's Word, seeking His wisdom and discernment to stand firm against deception.
